

THE JOURNALIST SURVIVAL GUIDE

AN ANIMATED VIDEO GUIDE

Lesson 1

What to do in case of shooting nearby?

Take cover immediately:

Find protection from fire – that means placing a hard, thick barrier between you and the direction from which the sound of fire is coming. Examples of cover from fire include a large rock or tree, a building, a vehicle or a ditch by the roadside.

Find protection from view.

If possible, crawl along the ground, under cover, to a new position, so that those firing no longer know where you are.

Do not look out to see what is going on.

Stay under cover until firing stops. Then wait for another 10-20 minutes before you come out.

Remember: protection from view (e.g. a bush) is not necessarily protection from fire!
